

Team Rwanda Summer 2022 Team Leader Skills and Attributes

The successful Team Leader will ideally have experience of:

- Leading and motivating others, preferably in a team;
- Providing support to peers (for example in a pastoral role such as a peer mentor);
- Significant volunteering (in the UK, their home country or overseas) and a good understanding of volunteering;
- Travelling, living or volunteering abroad (we are aware that opportunities to travel have been limited over the last two years and will take this into account).

They are likely to be:

- A good leader with experience of supporting others to work as a team and give their best;
- Keen to learn and to support others in learning and sharing knowledge;
- Friendly and approachable with a good listening ear;
- A strong communicator, with the ability to motivate others and keep them focused;
- Proactive and self-motivated;
- Organised and able to plan and prioritise;
- Able to think on their feet and respond to changing situations;
- Good at solving problems and resolving conflicts;
- Positive and flexible in dealing with the unexpected;
- Sensitive to other cultures and able to work collaboratively with people from different backgrounds;
- Interested in development issues relating to the work of Azizi Life.
